Inside the Set-up.dat i see some temporary data(however. the file is intact, readable and works fine). After installed the application the temp file is still in the application file. I have found that in the temporary file. When i move the temp file to another location the temporary file is lost. I have tried to back it up.But its not what i want. I want the temporary file(Set-up.dat) to be still inside the application files when i move it out. Is there anyway to do it? Also i found that, i installed the application on another system but while installing the file is lost. I have created the same application on another system. It has installed and works fine on that system. But the temporary files(Set-up.dat) which i have installed on another system are not available on this system. Why this thing happening? Please help me to get out of this. Thanks in advance A: After entering into the Adobe Docs for this solution it has the following statement: The Setup application no longer stores its configuration and other temporary files in the Application Support directory. Further down it says The new way to install the application is to follow the installation instructions for Premiere Pro CC 2018. After installation, the temporary files are saved to the path listed in the profile settings. The school is offering to give her more than two months' pay, an apartment and transportation costs to allow her to stay put, the Enquirer reports.
